PROFILE

I pride myself on being efficient and well organised. I have a keen interest in languages and extensive knowledge of computer hardware and software, which I have used over the years to gain skills in teaching, graphic design and newspaper production. I have also proven to be capable of working with all types of people, and enjoy tackling all sorts of challenges.

SKILLS

Computer software, specifically Microsoft and Adobe products (Office, Photoshop, InDesign, Illustrator and Acrobat).

Language (fluent in English and Spanish, GCSE standard in French, and a conversational level in Japanese).

EDUCATION & ACCOLADES

Four GCSEs
English (A), Spanish (A), French (C) and English London Board (A).

CURRICULUM VITAE

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

Image Graphics

Lead Graphic Designer

Gibraltar

Oct. 2007 - April 2009

Tasked with designing and printing promotional media, as well as creating new corporate identities for locally established brands.

During this period I also worked with a non-governmental organization to create striking artwork for their annual rally, and designed a major political party's newsletter, which now forms an integral and primary role in their re-election campaign.

GABA English School

English Teacher

Tokyo, Japan

June 2006 - April 2007

Taught students of all ages how to communicate fluently in English with native speakers. The one-to-one teaching approach allowed me to create fun and interesting lessons personally suited to each student.

Panorama Publishing

Panorama is one of two daily newspapers in Gibraltar

Senior Sub-editor

Gibraltar

Aug. 2001 - March 2006

Assisted in the transition from a weekly to a daily newspaper. Worked closely with the editor to create attractive and informative content for a wide readership. I also trained and supervised a team of layout designers, and regularly updated the website with news articles.
